

The House

Contributed by Administrator
Monday, 18 December 2006
Last Updated Thursday, 21 June 2007

Recently rehabilitated by the prestigious architect Pedro de Llano, the house preserves the beauty of the popular architecture of Galicia and adds new elements of avant-garde architecture. It is close to Santiago de Compostela and the beaches of the Rías Baixas, in a rural environment, surrounded with green meadows and plantations of apple trees for the production of Galician cider, which delight the visitor, especially at the time of blossoming.